“IS MANX HISTORY GIVEN SUFFICIENT PROMINENCE ...”
(1907)

Is Manx history given sufficient prominence in the curricula of Manx Schools. I wonder how many Manx lads could tell us how long lasted the Scandinavian rule in the Isle of Man; or give us some information regarding what is known of the origin, development, and history of the House of Keys; or mention the head of the ecclesiastical province in which the Isle of Man was situated at the date of the English Reformation. How many of them could even give the very shortest intelligible account of Bishop Wilson and his times.
